RESEARCH STUDIES ON CROWD FUNDING:

VILLAGE BANKING WEALTH CREATION
AND RISK MANAGEMENT

Host Organisation

The University of Lusaka (UNILUS) in line with its mandate to fulfill the ever-growing demand for employable human capital in various industries through continuous interaction with employers, focusing on research and regular update of our tailor-made programmes whilst equipping this human capital with cutting edge skills, knowledge and information wishes to invite interested researchers to submit research proposals in the following thematic areas;

- i) Village banking wealth creation
- ii) Village banking risk management

Research overview

The targeted submissions are research proposals that will be evaluated by an independent technical evaluation committee for conducting the research once approved. Shortlisted authors will be contacted to submit revised proposals after incorporating comments from the technical evaluation committee as well as participate in a virtual Research Seminar for a briefing. The selected proposals will be sponsored by the University for development into research papers.

Target Students

This call is open to undergraduate students taking Research Method (D400, E400) and postgraduate students taking Research (GBS800).
